Why He Couldn't Drink in Comfort

From the Albany Argus.

"Is this a barroom?" asked a strapping fellow in a coonskin cap and a butternut suit, as he eyed the piles of glasses and glittering bottles.

"Certainly, sir; what'll you have, sir?" answered and inquired the white-aproned attendant.

"I reckon not," responded the coonskin, glancing around suspiciously. "Where's the barrels you sit on?"

"We keep the barrels in the cellar."

"Where's the gang sittin' around the stove and ready to wait up at the sight of coin?"

"We don't allow any sitting around here. When a gentleman drinks he goes out."

"Where's the man with his eyes gouged?" demanded coonskin in a whisper.

"We don't have such parties here. Can I do anything for you?"

"Ain't ye got any old noses somewhere?" asked the visitor with a worried expression.

"No, we haven't," responded the barkeeper firmly.

"Will the man who tomahawks strangers be in directly?" interrogated coonskin, after a short pause.

"Don't know any such man. If you want anything ask for it."

"But the fellow that shoots the glass out of your mouth without spilling the poison; where might he be?"

"Perhaps you had better go away from here. I think you had better go out."

"Say them words again, pardner. That sounds like it. That's natural."

"Get out, or I'll throw you out."

"Oh, now you're whisperin', stranger! Sing it over to me. Club me once or twice. Put a bullet through this nigh lung. You're a shoutin' now! Gimme some judgment sunrise. Talk to me again. Why didn't you declare yourself at first, pardner? Why did you hold back? Throw me the ten bark."

And he poured out an allopathic dose and downed it, paid for it and walked off.

A Montana man can't enjoy his whiskey in a barroom that doesn't in some way remind him of home.

Kerosene and Salt for Diphtheria.

"B. V." writes to the N. Y. Sun: In 1862, on a plantation in south Alabama, where there was great difficulty in securing good medical advice, I saw a whole plantation of blacks, as well as the white members of a large family, successfully treated for diphtheria with kerosene oil and salt, used thus: Every patient was given a lump of rock salt about the size of a boy's marble, and instructed to keep it in his or her mouth, swallowing the salty saliva. At the same time the throat was rubbed with kerosene oil, and a flannel saturated with kerosene kept around the neck until the symptoms were abated or entirely gone. If necessary, mild cathartics were given. Not a case was lost, and there were fully 150 in all on the plantation.

THE COUNTY PRINTING.

A committee of the Grand Jury, who were ashamed to sign their names to the report they made, found as follows: That R. L. Fulton entered into a contract to do the county printing for the year 1880; that the said Fulton was allowed a bill, clearly under contract, for $97.50, and C. C. Powning one for $50; and it recommends that the prosecuting attorney be instructed to take legal steps to recover the amount; also that the bills under the extortionate contract are paid out of the contingent fund.

There are only a few errors in the report. The contract was not let for the year 1880. It does not bind us to do the county's printing. The Commissioners never allowed us a bill for $97.50. We never had any bill allowed not strictly correct. The bills under the contract are not extortionate. The bill put in by C. C. Powning was not contracted for; the contingent fund was never used improperly, so far as printers' bills are concerned. The balance of the committee's report is quite correct, and shows a large amount of talent and industry. The truth is the contract runs from Feb. 1, 1880, to Feb. 1, 1881. The contract calls for advertising and blanks, exclusive of book or bound work. We got up poll books and some other similar work which were wanted in a hurry; we put in the bill, got the money, and intend to keep it. The amount was $45 instead of $97.50. The committee reported the contract price as being exorbitant, when they never asked a county officer how much work he had of us last year. They never asked us what we paid for wages or paper or freight. They know nothing about how much we have furnished or what it cost. The contract was made for cash in U. S. gold coin, and was therefore paid out of the contingent fund. We could not do the work for that price unless we got our pay as we get it from our other customers. As to the awful charge of dividing the work with the Journal office, we got work done at Sacramento and paid for it, we got work done in San Francisco and paid for it, we got work done in the Journal office and paid for it, and we have fulfilled the contract as agreed upon. We have got fair prices for the work. We have made a profit on it as we have on other work, but not as large a profit as we would have made out of a similar amount of work for any firm or mining company in the county. Washoe county gets her work done well and cheap. It costs Humboldt county $2,000, Elko $1,200, Eureka $4,000, and so on. We only devote so much time to so small a matter for fear some one may not know where the report came from, and might believe some of the false statements it contains.

A POOR USE FOR THE SYSTEM.

When a Grand Jury allows itself to be used to gratify personal spite it loses its usefulness. By some unknown means a certain old man got on every Grand Jury in this county, and manages to get on committees that give him full opportunities to make himself ridiculous. He never fails to show his nature, and, though he has allowed his taxes to become delinquent for four years, yet he seems to feel every cent paid out by the county as a personal loss. The foreman and members of a Grand Jury should refuse to present garbled statements, false figures and malicious lies from Committees. They lower themselves, degrade their office and injure honest men, when they receive and publish reports like that made last night.

A Cure.

To all who are suffering from the error and indifference of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Smith, Station B, New York City, and I will send it to you.

REPORT OF THE N. S. A. M. & M. SOCIETY.

RENO, December 27, 1880.

To the stockholders of the N. S. A. M. & M. Society:

GENTS:—Your Board of Trustees herewith present their annual report for the year ending December 27, 1880:

After organization, our first act was to carry into effect our resolution, adopted at the annual meeting of 1879, authorizing the levying of an assessment of $2 per share of the capital stock, by ordering said assessment at a regular meeting of the Board, held at their office on January 19, 1880, and having same published in the daily JOURNAL, together with the date on which same would become delinquent and sale made thereof. Of the whole number of shares originally held (1,933), 605 shares promptly responded in coin; 123 shares paid by receipting in full, or in part, claims held by them against the Association, for previous years. Making a total of 728 shares redeemed, and leaving a balance of 1,205 shares sold, and bought in by the Board on behalf of the Association.

Your Board, after a careful estimate, submits the following detailed statement of the resources and liabilities of the Association:

RESOURCES:

Buildings and improvements at track	$18,066 46
Farm	4,043 40
Tools	9,805 79
Real estate	2,326 65
Pavilion and lot	11,090 00
Office furniture	125 00
Total	$39,456 30

LIABILITIES:

Bowman note and interest to Dec. 31, 1880	$10,565 52
Bank of Nevada note and interest to Nov. 23, 1880	2,781 40
C. C. Stevenson note and interest to Dec. 20, 1880	7,778 75
Morton note and interest to Dec. 31, 1880	853 00
Reno Gas Co., acct. Pavilion 1878	380 00
Unpaid premiums, 1880	287 00
J. L. McFarlin, enclosing Grand Stand	38 50
Total	$22,684 17

Excess of resources over liabilities $16,772 23

RESULTS OF FAIR IN 1880:

Receipts from all sources	$ 5,585 85
Disbursements	5,872 85

Unpaid as above $ 287 00

In explanation of the unpaid balance against our administration, we wish to state that the Fair of 1880, was a financial success, as the following figures and facts will show:

In the first place, we found on entering upon our duties, that the outgoing administration had overdrawn their account with the firm of D. A. Bender & Co. to the amount of $204 58, and interest to Feb. 23, 1880, of $6 06. In addition to the above account, we find that our very first deposit made on account of assessment, was attached by builders of the fine in the Pavilion, which attachment and costs, to amount or $128 35, was paid in order to prevent further trouble. Making a total disbursement of $338 99, from which deducting unpaid premiums of 1880 ($287), would show a net gain for the Fair of $51 99.

By comparison with the preceding year we find that the aggregate receipts fell off fully 45 per cent., and while the following detailed statement of disbursements shows a large decrease in the various items of necessary expenses, yet it will be apparent to all that a proportionate rate cannot be made on expenditures:

	1879.	1880.
Repairs on track	$ 824 85	$ 508 40
Printing	781 75	424 37
Employees, etc.	927 78	736 60
Furnish.	4,346 00	2,700 00
Premiums	1,126 50	801 50
Misc.	200 00	225 00
Pavilion		147 99
Total	$7,306 78	$5,533 86
Paid acct. 1878-79, as above		338 90
Total		$5,872 85

Respectfully submitted,

M. C. LAKE, President.

SHARON'S RECORD.

The Phantom Senator's Career in Congress.

ABSENT 570 DAYS OUT OF 694.

Three Speeches in Six Years—Four Minutes Spent in Oratory Paid for at the Rate of $125 a Second or $7,500 a Minute—$30,000 for 53 Days' Attendance and Voting.

From the New York Sun, Jan. 15.

Among the guests at the Windsor Hotel in this town is Mr. William Sharon of San Francisco, who was chosen by the Nevada Legislature several years ago to represent that State in the United States Senate. Mr. Sharon has been in New York about a week. He is said to be on his way to Washington to resume his duties as a maker of laws. Mr. Sharon's term expires next March. He was a candidate for re-election, but has just been defeated by Mr. James G. Fair, also a resident of San Francisco and Nevada. To a reporter who had the privilege of talking with Mr. Sharon the other day, the Senator confided his belief that Mr. Fair bought the election as Senator—bought it by bribing legislators. "The canvass," said Mr. Sharon with a smile, "was conducted as contests have been conducted before in Nevada—on business principles." Notwithstanding the business event which brings Mr. Sharon's career as a Senator to an untimely end, he has managed to enjoy his visit to New York. He has been in no hurry to move on to Washington.

The record of Mr. Wm. Sharon in the public service of the United States is one of the most remarkable ever achieved by any member of Congress. As material for the future historian, we have caused to be prepared a table of accurate and minute statistics showing the exact amount, variety and value of his labors for the public good, from the day on which his term began down to yesterday. As the details would occupy much space and make monotonous reading, we present at this time the results only, in the form of comprehensive summaries.

Mr. Sharon entered public life on the 4th of March, 1875. He began on the same day to draw his Senator's salary of $5,000 a year with $125 allowance for stationery and newspapers, and 25 cents mileage each way of between Virginia City and the scene of public labors. The Forty-fourth Congress began with a special session of the Senate, in which Mr. Sharon, who had affairs to look after on the Pacific coast, failed to assist. We put his record during this special session into the following table:

No. of days in special session.....16
Days on which Sharon was present.....0
Days on which Sharon was absent.....16

The first regular session of the Forty-fourth Congress opened on Dec. 6, 1875. On the 23rd of February, 1876, almost exactly one year after Mr. Sharon had acquired the right to draw his salary, he made his first appearance in the Senate, presented his credentials, and was formally sworn into office. He remained in Washington six or seven weeks, sometimes attending the Senate and sometimes not. Then he disappeared again. During this brief period of visible and tangible existence as a Senator, Mr. Sharon made no speeches, presented no bills or petitions, and offered no resolutions. He was silent and receptive, as befits one who is serving an apprenticeship. The rest of the Senate did not adjourn until four months after Mr. Sharon's adjournment. It remained at work until the middle of August. The Sharon statistics of the first regular session of the Forty-fourth Congress are now given.

Days Senate was in session.....171
Days Sharon was present and voted.....53
Days Sharon may have been present but did not vote, leaving his presence in historical doubt.....12
Days Sharon was known to be absent.....146

In these interesting tables the number of days given as the length of the session refer only to days on which the Senate was actually at work, being for the greater part of the time four days in the week. Whenever Mr. Sharon is present long enough to cast one vote, he is credited with a full day's attendance.

The second session of the Forty-fourth Congress began on Dec. 4th, 1876. Mr. Sharon appeared in his seat on Jan. 11, 1877. During the entire session he made no speech, introduced no bill, and opened his official mouth only twice, once to present one petition and again to present two together—a grand total of three petitions presented.

Days Senate was in session.....66
Days Sharon was present and voted.....13
Days in historical doubt.....16
Days Sharon was absent.....37

Another special session of the Senate began on March 5, 1877. During this session Mr. Sharon made no remarks and performed no legislative functions. Indeed, he probably went West after three days' work, for he is not heard of subsequently to March 7. Days in special session.....10
Days Sharon was present and voted.....8
Days Sharon was absent.....7

The first session of the Forty-fifth Congress, famous as the extra session called by Hayes, began on Oct. 15, 1877, and lasted until December 3. This was an exciting and important epoch in Congress. Nearly every member was on hand. At one time there were only three absentees from the Senate, namely, Senator Morton, who was on his death bed; Senator Johnston, who was sick; and Senator Sharon, who was busy with his own affairs in California.

Days Senate was in session.....34
Days Sharon attended.....0
Days Sharon was absent.....34

The second session of the Forty-fifth Congress lasted from Dec. 3, 1877, to June 20, 1878. Mr. Sharon was still busy with his affairs in San Francisco. His seat was vacant for one hundred and seventeen days.

Days on which the Senate sat.....117
Days on which Sharon was at his post.....0
Days on which he was away.....117

The third session of the Forty-fifth Congress was what may be called a period of great legislative activity for Senator Sharon. He arrived in Washington six weeks late, and not only presented three petitions, but also made two speeches. The second speech was very brief, but his maiden effort, delivered four years after his entrance into public life, occupied one minute and three-quarters in delivery. The most impressive passage is this:

"When the prerogative of the Government is exercised by the way of subsidy for the benefit of a corporation, it assumes a quasi-public character, and I think the people have a right to demand that the legislative bodies which have made this grant of moneys and lands shall see to it that they are not imposed upon by these corporations, the creatures of their creation. In other words, the creature cannot rise above the creator."

The total results of this chapter of Mr. Sharon's career as a quasi-public character may now be summed up:

Days on which the Senate sat.....57
Days on which Sharon attended.....16
Days in historical doubt.....13
Days when he stayed at home.....28

The first session of the Forty-sixth Congress lasted from March 18, 1879, to July 1. The Senate was in session seventy-seven days. During this time Mr. Sharon was not seen in Washington.

Days on which the Senate sat.....77
Days on which Sharon sat.....0
Days of absence.....77

Recuperated by this long vacation, Mr. Sharon was able to come east again in January, 1880, five or six weeks after the rest of the Senate had assembled for the second session of the Forty-sixth Congress. We find a record of his presence at his desk on as many as eight days, and on one of these eight days, March 11—a date memorable as the culminating point of Mr. Sharon's Senatorial career—he astonished even his admirers by delivering, in rapid and brilliant succession, a petition, a motion, a set speech of one minute and three-quarters, and a personal explanation, in which he asked the indulgence of the Senate for further absence on private business. Then he vanished like a wraith.

Days Senate was in session.....127
Days Sharon was present and voted.....8
Days in historical doubt.....30
Days known to have been absent.....89

When Mr. Sharon, nearly a year ago, asked the indulgence of the Senate, he intimated that he might be away from duty for three or four weeks. He has been better than his word. Forty-five weeks have elapsed and he has not returned. The third session of the Forty-sixth Congress, the last in which Senator Sharon will ever have an active interest, is about half gone. The Sharon statistics, up to yesterday, are as follows:

Days the Senate has been in session.....19
Days Sharon has been in session.....0
Days he has been absent.....19

Now, gathering into one table the figures of the whole six years, the record of Mr. Sharon's services as Senator of the United States is exhibited in grand totals:

Total days of the Senate in session.....694
Total days Sharon present and voted.....53
Total days in historical doubt.....71
Total days Sharon was absent.....570
Sharon's percentage of attendance.....07
Sharon's percentage of non-attendance.....83
In doubt.....10

As to the total results in a parliamentary way of Mr. Sharon's service of nearly six years, we have these amazing figures:

Total No. of speeches delivered.....3
Total No. min. is consumed in oratory.....4
Total No. of personal explanation.....1
Total times participating in debate.....0
Total No. of bills introduced.....0
Total No. of petitions presented.....4
Total No. motions to refer petitions.....4

Let us now reckon the cost of Mr. Sharon's services to the country "on business principles," as Senators are elected in Nevada. His salary is $5,000 a year. In the six years' term, expiring in less than two months from to-day, he receives from the Treasury the sum of $30,000. Whether his conscience allowed him to draw mileage for every session we do not know. He shall have the benefit of the doubt. How has Mr. Sharon earned the $30,000 paid him by the people? If he has earned it by sitting in his armchair in the Senate Chamber, he has been paid at the rate of five hundred and sixty six dollars and four cents a day. If he has earned it by presenting petitions from his constituents, he has been paid at the rate of $7,500 a petition. If he has earned it by his eloquence in the Senate, he has been paid at the rate of $125 a second, $7,500 a minute, $450,000 an hour. If he has earned it by the weight and dignity which his name has lent to the upper branch of the national legislature, the fact is not apparent to any ordinary observer.

Theoretically the County pays four dollars per week for the board of paupers. The actual expense of the board under the contract for the year 1880 has been $4.43 per week. It is barely possible that the contract under which the present incumbent operates, was a just and equitable one at the time it was entered into, ignoring the fact that the costs per capita is heavier now for board alone with a $10,000 poor-house and a $2,000 poor-farm, furnished by the County, rent free, than the entire expense, including
